
← Pre-Course Work

18 / 19

Open-Source Tools (Cont.)

The data science and programming communities have created a wide range of open-source tools, so no matter your problem, you can almost always find one to help you solve it.

Keep an eye on popular blogs to see which tools others in the field are using. And don't try to reinvent the wheel — if there's a tool you wish you had, search Google first to see if someone has already created it!

